Book at night.

- Fly on Tuesdays, Wednesday and Thursdays.
- Be flexible with date and location.

- Compare prices.
- Countercheck on the website of the airline you consider flying with.
- Are there cheap airlines from the country you want to go to?
- Sign up for their newsletters.
- When do they announce sales?
- Set up an alert.

- Check blogs that provide information about error fares and special offers.
- Consult a travel agent or a special student travel office at your university.

Other things to consider:

How much time do you want to spend in a transfer?

Are there special packages to be able to get a refund in case you have to cancel the flight?

How much luggage are you allowed to bring?

What time of the day will you arrive? Is it convenient for someone to pick you?
